

Where do I get fuels in foreign countries and what other types of fuel can I use?

Camping fuel (white gas) is sold in a variety of places worldwide. If you can't find fuel in an outdoor store, try a gas station or hardware store. For translations and general availability of fuels around the world, please consult our list below.

Liquid Fuel Stoves — If you have a multi-fuel stove, like the XGK™, DragonFly™ or WhisperLite™ Internationale stoves, try kerosene. Just remember to use the "k" jet included with your stove (Marked K, GK, or DK depending on the stove).

Canister Fuel Stoves — PocketRocket™, WindPro™, and Reactor® stoves will only accept threaded, self-sealing canisters. If you have a SuperFly™ stove, it will work on both threaded and non-threaded self-sealing canisters, like Campingaz branded canisters.
